

SUPPLY CHAIN AND OPERATIONS - CERTIFICATE

Mays Business School offers a Supply Chain and Operations Certificate. The purpose of the certificate is to teach the fundamental knowledge and tools necessary for an MBA level career in operations and supply chain analytics, including those for operations and logistics, coding for the purpose of analyzing and presenting data, and using operations and supply chain information to make key business decisions. The certificate is only open to MBA students.

This program is also approved for delivery via asynchronous or synchronous distance education technology.
