Interim Department Head: Alva O. Ferdinand, DrPH, JD

The degree programs in the Department of Health Policy and Management integrate instruction, research, and practice. Faculty and students are engaged in research and outreach efforts through centers, programs, and individual scholarly efforts. Many students are employed in hospitals, physician groups, cause-related organizations, public health agencies, consulting firms, pharmaceutical companies, and other health-related organizations.

For program curricula see Department of Health Policy and Management (<https://public-health.tamu.edu/departments/hpm/>).
