Department Head: Gerard E. Carrino, PhD, MPH (Interim)

The degree programs in the Department of Health Policy and Management integrate instruction, research, and practice. Many faculty and students are engaged in substantial research and outreach efforts through centers, programs, and individual scholarly efforts focused on several types of research and training. Many students are employed in hospitals, physician groups, cause-related organizations, public health agencies, consulting firms, pharmaceutical companies and other health-related organizations.

For program curricula see Department of Health Policy and Management (<http://sph.tamhsc.edu/hpm/>).
