

JEWISH STUDIES - MINOR

The Jewish Studies Minor is an interdisciplinary minor that focuses on Jewish religious traditions, history, texts, art, and figures from the ancient to the contemporary period. Coursework addresses key issues in Jewish studies from multiple traditions, including religious studies, literature, history, film, anthropology, and philosophy. The minor is open to students from any major, and allows students to cultivate knowledge and understanding of Judaism and of Israeli society, history, and culture in regional and comparative contexts.
