Students are responsible for contacting the departmental advisors for the requirements for matriculation into a teacher education program. Students must meet state, University, College, and program requirements. All certification programs at Texas A&M are in compliance with the standards established by the State of Texas. The college manages programs for the preparation of certified school personnel as well as human service professionals in the private sector, state and community agencies. Undergraduate majors include education leading to certification in early childhood, early childhood through sixth grade, middle grades, bilingual and special education; human resource development; kinesiology; and sport management. Students interested in any elementary, middle school or secondary certification programs should meet with a college advisor regarding all program options.

Requirements for Admission to Teacher Education Programs

The State of Texas establishes standards for teacher education programs. All certification programs at Texas A&M are in compliance with these requirements. Students must meet state, University, College of Education and Human Development and department/program requirements for matriculation into a teacher education program. Students are responsible for contacting the departmental advisors to obtain information about specific requirements for their major and program areas.

Teacher Education Retention Policy

A student, after being admitted to teacher education, who fails to continue to meet all requirements, will be dropped from the program and may not continue in or register for any professional teacher education course. Any student removed from or who discontinues student teaching because of unsatisfactory performance will be dropped from the teacher education program. A student dropped from the teacher education program may apply through their respective department for readmission to the teacher education program.
