DEPARTMENT OF TEACHING, LEARNING AND CULTURE

The Department of Teaching, Learning and Culture is responsible for undergraduate programs that lead to certification at the early childhood/ elementary, middle and secondary levels. Note these exceptions:

- Students interested in teaching agricultural science must major in the Department of Agricultural Education;
- Students interested in secondary certification can be certified through the secondary Graduate Certification Program or the aggieTEACH program.

Early Childhood/Elementary or Middle Grades Certification

Baccalaureate Degree Programs. Most students interested in early childhood/elementary (PreK-6) or middle school (4–8) certification pursue a program leading to the Bachelor of Science degree (BS) with a major in Education. The EDUC degree certification programs prepare students for the many diverse instructional roles assumed by public school teachers. A minimum of 123 credit hours is required for the EDUC degree. Within this program, students may focus on:

- · Early Childhood (PreK-Grade 6);
- · Middle School (Grades 4-8 Math and Science); or
- Middle School (Grades 4–8 English Language Arts and Social Studies).

For complete information, see an advisor in the Department of Teaching, Learning and Culture's Office of Undergraduate Advising in Harrington Tower (EDCT 111).

Eligibility. Students must meet the requirements for a bachelor's degree in the college and the department in which they are majoring. Further, they must meet specific admission and performance standards established by the Department of Teaching, Learning and Culture as well as requirements for professional education and certification established by the State of Texas. These requirements include admission to teacher education, admission to clinical teaching and qualification for initial certification. It is the responsibility of the student to contact the Department of Teaching, Learning and Culture's Office of Undergraduate Advising for specific information pertaining to program changes.

Please see an advisor in the Office of Undergraduate Advising for current information.
